BENEFIT RECITAL BY ARVID OWENS.

Arvid Owens, child pianist of this city, assisted by Benjamin Hartz, tenor, also of this city, will appear in a benefit recital in the hall room of Allendale, Monday, May 1, at 8:15 o'clock. Arvid Owens is a boy of great promise and his work has attracted the attention of critics and teachers wherever he has been heard. He began early in a musical career, playing when 5 years of age in his first pianoforte recital in the studio of his teacher, Miss Mary Lindsay Oliver, in Moline. When 8 years of age he again appeared in a piano recital, playing the works of Clementi, Bach, Beethoven, Schumann, Grieg and Gurliitt. In 1914 Miss Oliver took Arvid to Chicago to play before a number of critics who were unanimous in their praise. Henri Levy, the Polish pianist and composer, saying that he had never heard a child so young express so much in his playing, that he was a genius. Mr. Hartz as tenor soloist has delighted at various times with songs, his voice being peculiarly beautiful and clear. His part on the program will likewise be a real treat. The admission fee will be in the reach of everyone and it is hoped that the affair will be liberally patronized.

WORK FOR SUFFRAGE PLANKS.

The women of Illinois are cooperating in a nation-wide campaign to secure "full suffrage for women" planks in the republican and democratic national platforms. The progressive party has always incorporated the complete enfranchisement of women in its platform and has thereby gained the everlasting gratitude of the women of the nation. That women fully appreciate this fact has been demonstrated upon more than one occasion. Illinois should secure the appointment of at least one woman delegate to the republican, progressive and democratic national conventions, the first two to be held in Chicago June 7, the third in St. Louis, June 14.

Large delegations of women are going to Chicago and St. Louis especially from each enfranchised state and also other states, to take part in the demonstration of the women of the nation which will climax the suffrage plank campaign. The Chicago demonstration will be a parade and the aim is 40,000 women in line who will march in military formation up Michigan avenue 16 abreast. In St. Louis there will be a "walkless parade," where women will stand guard from the Hotel Jefferson, the headquarters, to the Coliseum. Every state will be represented in that guard.

ENTERTAIN BLUE BIRD CLUB.

Misses Lillian and Ida Gross, 1515 Thirtieth street, entertained the Blue Bird club Saturday evening, the girls spending a most enjoyable time with games and contests in which the prizes were won by Misses Elizabeth Oglevee, Ruth Dodson and Mildred Chapman. ## LENTZ-HUNTLEY.

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock was celebrated the marriage of Miss Hazel Huntley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Huntley, 730 Third street, and Arthur F. Lentz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lentz, 1024 Sixteenth avenue. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. F. J. Rolf, of the German Evangelical church, officiating, using the ring service. Members of the immediate families were the only guests, the service being marked by simplicity. The bride couple was attended by Miss Ruth Huntley, sister of the bride and Ralph R. Graham. The bride wore a lovely dress of blue georgette crepe over blue poplin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lentz left for a short wedding trip and upon their return will be at home to their friends at 3416 Ninth-and-a-half avenue, where a pretty home has been prepared. Mr. Lentz is a member of the firm of Albert F. Lentz and Son, well known contractors of this city.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man 25 years old and have been engaged to a girl 21 years old for almost a year. I am able financially to support a wife.

(1) Do you think we are too young to get married?

(2) I have not yet given her an engagement ring. What kind should I get and what should it cost?

(3) She lives about one hundred miles from me. Should I wait until I can go to see her, about two months hence, or send her the ring?

(4) She is an orphan girl and had to quit college to go to work. I want her to let me furnish the means for her to finish her course, but she will not consent to it. At her present position and salary she cannot herself save enough to put herself through college. I don't want her to have to work as she now does. Should I insist on her accepting the money to finish her education or should we get married at once? I think she would marry me any time, but my folks are well educated and I want her to be equal to them in this respect.

UNCERTAIN.

(1) No.

(2) A diamond is better than any other stone for an engagement ring. A good stone would cost between $100 and $150. Of course you could very easily pay more.

(3) I should think she would rather wait until you can be there to give it to her.

(4) You cannot insist upon her accepting the money. She realizes that it does not belong to her until she is your wife, and she is right. Just because your people had a few more years of college than she has had is no reason they are better educated, and she should not be made to feel so. Unless college graduates mention the fact that they are graduates one rarely recognizes the fact. I certainly believe in having as much education as opportunity offers, but in this case opportunity does not offer. Marry her at once if you think she is working too hard.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I have gone with a girl a few times and am in love with her. We are both old enough to get married, and I can support her. I have never had much experience with girls. What should I do to win her?

(2) Should I ask her for steady company?

(3) Should I send her flowers or take them myself Sunday evening? And what kind?

I don't think she is going with any other fellow at present, and sometimes she acts as though she cared for me. I love her very much and will appreciate your advice.

(1) In the first place a girl likes a boy who remembers little courtesies, such as tipping his hat when he meets her and leaves her, walks on the outside of the street, helps her on and off cars, takes her arm in crossing streets and rough places, and sees that she is not left alone when he has taken her some place.

A boy should be careful not to show nervousness or be fidgety. For instance, he can spoil an otherwise pleasant evening if he takes a girl to the theatre and twirls and fusses with his program or lightly keeps time to the music. There is nothing more pleasing or restful than repose; the quality should be cultivated by all.

Of course a girl likes a boy who takes her places and occasionally shows by some little gift that he is trying to please her. A box of candy, a book or flowers delight a girl, and a boy wishing to win favor should indulge in these things if he can afford it.

When calling on a girl the wise boy stays no longer than two or three hours and when he leaves he goes like a shot out of a gun and does not keep her standing at the door first on one foot and then on the other while he tells her things that come to his mind the last minute. (2) No.

(3) Have them sent Sunday morning so that she can wear them to church. A corsage of violets, roses or sweet peas combined with lilies of the valley would be very pretty. Most girls, I think, prefer violets.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

SANDWICHES.

Harlequin Sandwiches—Spread a bit of brown bread with butter and French mustard, and a bit of white bread, cut to fit the former, with butter and cheese creamed together. Finish as usual.

Harlequin Sandwiches, No. 2—Spread the brown bread with butter and cheese creamed together, and the white bread with butter, then with cucumber, chopped fine and seasoned with French dressing, to which a few drops of onion juice have been added.

Hunter's Sandwich—Spread fresh bread, cut in thin slices, with fresh butter; over this a layer of creamed cheese, and over the cheese spread a layer of honey. Press two similarly shaped pieces together and serve at once. (Maple syrup can be substituted for the honey).

Club Sandwiches—Have ready four triangular pieces of toasted bread spread with mayonnaise dressing; cover two of these with lettuce, lay thin slices of cold chicken (white meat) upon the lettuce, over this arrange slices of broiled breakfast bacon, then lettuce, and cover with the other triangles of toast spread with mayonnaise. Trim neatly, arrange on a plate, and garnish with leaves of lettuce dipped in mayonnaise.

Peanut Sandwiches—Chop freshly roasted peanuts very fine; then pound them until smooth; season with salt and moisten with thick cream.
